

FORESTS - OUR CLIMATE PROTECTORS

1. Along with our oceans, forests and soil are the Earth's most important natural resources with regard to maintaining a balanced carbon cycle.

Take a look at the picture below. Can you figure out why forests and soils are so important?

Handwriting practice lines consisting of ten horizontal yellow bars.

