

Picture: Iara Jameson, Pexels

Greeting Etiquette

pexels-cottonbro-cg-8832749.jpg pexels-vie-studio-4439412.jpg pexels-zen-chung-5537577.jpg

Greeting etiquette for meetings

Every culture has its unique greeting. The Greeting for the meeting is ancient and has a long tradition, and it expresses friendship related to manners and lifestyle.

We recognize in the world various greetings for a meeting, such as removing the sandals, whistling into the ear, making a snoring sound, and more, just as there are many degrees to the custom of kissing - which is a custom accepted by many nations. At the same time, it is foreign and strange to other countries.

Greeting with hands pexels-cytonn-photography-955388.jpg pexels-alena-darmel-7322099.jpg pexels-yaroslav-shuraev-8695272.jpg pexels-sora-shimazaki-5668526.jpg

Traditional Japanese greeting pexels-kampus-production-8190802.jpg pexels-teddy-yang-7300476.jpg

Greeting during the period of COVID-19 pexels-julia-m-cameron-4144696.jpg pexels-william-fortunato-6140944.jpg pexels-thirdman-5961185.jpg

Greetings and welcoming pexels-nicole-michalou-5764904.jpg pexels-rodnae-productions-8292804.jpg

pexels-nicole-michalou-5764903.jpg

pexels-rodnae-productions-7282017.jpg

Greetings between an adult and a child pexels-katerina-holmes-5905918.jpg

pexels-kampus-production-8507628.jpg

Greetings from a distance pexels-diva-plavalaguna-6937748.jpg pexels-artem-podrez-4492135.jpg pexels-andrea-piacquadio-3808845.jpg

Greetings in a letter or postcard pexels-ron-lach-10660578.jpg

pexels-ron-lach-10652980.jpg pexels-eren-li-7169357.jpg

Guide for Greeting etiquette

1. Look at your buddy when you meet them.
2. Give attention, make eye contact, listen, and create a good feeling
3. Be aware of your body language and your buddy.
4. Say a sentence for attention, like - how are you?
5. Studying the other culture: is it customary to kiss, is it customary to give a pat on the back, and more?